

READERS GUIDE

This report complies with formal reporting obligations for the agency. It also provides an overview of the agency's role and performance in supporting Australian law enforcement.

The report has four parts.

The first provides an overview of the agency's performance at the senior management and governance level. It also provides a brief description of the agency, CrimTrac's organisational structure and outcome and output framework.

The second reports on the agency's performance during 2008–09.

The third part highlights key features of CrimTrac's corporate governance and describes the processes by which the agency is directed, controlled and held accountable.

The final part incorporates the Financial Statements as required under section 49 of the Financial Management and Accountability Act 1997.

'Programme' describes discrete functions or services.
